FSGW Presents Prominent Old-time Band

Big Medicine

Saturday, October 19

8 pm

Old-time mountain music, early bluegrass, in-the-tradition originals, fresh arrangements, and fine musicianship! What more could we ask for? Come see for yourself why Big Medicine is known as one of the most influential bands in traditional music circles.

Kenny Jackson's fiddling is rooted in the traditional styles of the old south, learned firsthand from the masters and from archival recordings, and honed through years of playing sessions, fiddlers’ conventions and touring. Since the mid-'80s, he's toured with a number of talented string bands and is an in-demand teacher, face to face, on-line and at music camps.

Joe Newberry is a quiet man who learned the old songs from his family in the Ozarks. Now he writes songs that he and other people sing and record, including Singing As We Rise, a 2012 IBMA award-winner. His songs invite you to sing along. But he's also well known as a powerful banjo player, prize-winning guitarist, fiddler and singer, all of which can be found on his solo CD Two Hands. He's coordinated Augusta's Old-Time Week and works for the North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources.

Bobb Head is another multi-instrumentalist, contributing top-notch guitar and banjo picking, along with bass and harmony vocals. He also works with a percussive dance ensemble and other bands, including the irreverent southern-fried contra band Deep Phat Friars. The playing may be serious, but the band names are another thing; Bobb was once a member of the Self-Righteous Brothers in Houston and the Privy Tippers in Tucson.

LaNelle Davis got hooked on old-time music through square dancing at North Carolina bluegrass festivals. She learned the steps and routines of percussive dance and spent the 1980s touring as dancer and dance caller. Her interest turned to music when a friend moved away and left a bass at her house. After all those years as a percussive dancer, it’s no surprise that she’s known for her driving bass lines and singing.

Come see for yourself. Big Medicine is good for whatever ails you! We’ll leave some room for spontaneous dancing. At the Washington Ethical Society Auditorium, 7750 16th St., NW, Washington, DC 20012. General admission $20; free to FSGW members. See Big Medicine at their website: www.bigmedmusic.com

The 49th Annual FSGW Getaway

A Weekend on the Water for Singers, Musicians, and Music-Lovers
Friday–Sunday, October 4–6, 2013
West River Conference Center, West River, Maryland

Come daytrip to the beautiful West River off the Chesapeake Bay and spend a day at the Annual Getaway. Love traditional music? Want to laugh, discover, enjoy? Then break away for a day or two, to a beautiful river-front haven where you can share time and songs with performers you’ve long admired and friends from near and far. Relax at the water’s edge by day, jam and laugh all night, and be open to learning something new at any time. It’s all there for you at the Getaway, known worldwide as one of the finest gatherings of its kind.

Saturday and Sunday, choose from workshops, mini-concerts, song circles, and jam sessions, and then it’s your time to shine in the evening at the sign-up concerts. There’s a silent auction for the scholarship fund (please bring an item to donate), and crafts, CDs and instruments for sale.

Our special guests this year include West Coast troubadours Larry Hanks and Deborah Robins, the legendary Ann Mayo Muir and daughter Christina Muir, the ever-popular John Roberts with tunes from both sides of the Pond, Castlebay (Fred Gosbee and Julia Lane) with Celtic and New England music, Mike Agranoff, to make you laugh, and Mark Gilston, an old friend returning with dulcimer and squeezebox.

Daytrippers: FSGW members $35 a day, Non-members $40. You need to bring your own meals. Meals served in the dining hall had to be reserved in advance. For more information check the FSGW website at fsgw.org or e-mail Charlie Baum, at cbaum@fsgw.org.

FSGW Board Meetings
Tuesday, October 8 • 8 pm
The monthly FSGW board meetings will be held in Classroom 201 Arcade Bldg at Glen Echo Park, MD. All FSGW members may attend. If you wish the Board to consider a particular matter, please contact the appropriate board member, or April Blum by e-mail, president@fsgw.org, or call afternoons or evenings 301-422-0292 in advance of the meeting.
Capital Maritime Music Fest
Saturday, October 12
11 am to 10 pm

DC’s only maritime music festival celebrates the people, music and folklore of inland waterways and the sea, with a special focus on the maritime culture of the Chesapeake Bay, Potomac River and C&O Canal. It is hosted by the Naval Heritage Center and co-sponsored by the Folklore Society of Greater Washington and the Washington Revels.

A continuous series of afternoon workshops will combine music with folklore and the history of local maritime activities. The U.S. Navy Sea Chanters, (the United States Navy’s official chorus), will perform at 12 noon. During the event, you’ll also hear from the Washington Revels Jubilee Voices and the Ship’s Company Chanteymen. The event will culminate in an evening concert featuring Bob Zentz, Jennifer Cutting’s OCEAN, Janie Meneely and Calico Jack, and the Washington Revels Maritime Voices, who sing the work songs of seamen. These artists will be presenting fascinating workshops through the afternoon.

For a complete schedule, see www.capitalmaritimemusicfest.com. The U.S. Navy Memorial is at 701 Pennsylvania Ave., NW, right at the exit of the Archives/Navy Memorial Metro stop on the green/yellow lines. The festival is free, although a $20 donation would be appreciated. T-shirts will be available for sale.

FSGW AND THE HILL CENTER PRESENT

Hoag, Kelley, Pilzer
Sunday, October 20
3:30–6 pm

With Andrea Hoag, Loretta Kelley and Charlie Pilzer all together on stage, you will hear—from a fiddle, a hardingfele and a contrabass—music that fills the room with raw, vibrating passion. Together these artists have decades of experience performing in the USA and abroad, and have a GRAMMY-nominated CD, Hambo in the Snow. There is no doubt they are playing music that makes their souls sing.

Andrea, widely known for her versatile fiddling, is a graduate of Malungs Folkhögskola, and studied intensively with elder fiddlers Päkkos Gustaf and Nils Agenmark. Loretta is America’s foremost player of the hardingfele (Hardanger fiddle), an ornately-decorated Norwegian folk violin with sympathetic strings and a 300-year-old tradition. Charlie is an award-winning performer and producer of traditional and acoustic music. He is a long-time member of Spælimenninir, a folk band based in the Faroe Islands.

As part of the afternoon, Mary Cliff of WAMU’s Traditions will moderate a conversation with the artists about the culture and history of their music. The Hill Center at the Old Naval Hospital is at 921 Pennsylvania Ave., SE, Washington, D.C., 1 block from the Eastern Market Metro station.

$15 public, $13 FSGW members. Tickets may be purchased by calling 202.549.4172, online at http://hillcenterdc.org/home/programs, or at the door. Info: Theadocia Austen 202.344.7044.

FSGW CO-SPONSORED EVENTS

Martyn Wyndham-Read
Wednesday, October 23 • 8 pm

Whenever Martyn Wyndham-Read journeys from his home in England to visit friends in the D.C. area, we try to create an opportunity for this talented singer and fine guitarist to share some of his favorite English and Australian songs. That opportunity will come this month, when Martyn will present a house concert at the home of Kathy Westra near downtown Silver Spring.

Martyn’s folk odyssey began in his late teens. He left his mother’s farm in Sussex and headed off with his guitar to South Australia, where he worked on a sheep station called Emu Springs. There he was captivated by the old songs sung by some of the station hands, and was consumed by the need to know more of—and about—them. He relocated to Melbourne and became part of the folk song revival there and throughout Australia during the early 1960s.

Martyn’s performing and recording career has continued nonstop since his first solo LP, Australian Songs, was issued in 1964. Thousands of performances and dozens of recordings later, songs from his newest (2012) CD, Starlit Skies, are on the program for this concert. So too are traditional songs from Australia and from his native England—a deep well of material replenished over Martyn’s long career as a performer and participant in the folk scene. Martyn’s traditional repertoire is continually refreshed with new songs from talented contemporary writers such as the late Graeme Miles.

Reservations strongly recommended: call (please do not use e-mail or Facebook) Kathy at 301.754.0711 to RSVP, or for directions. (it’s a 1.5 mile walk from the Silver Spring Metro stop, or take #15 bus from the Metro station up Wayne Ave. to Mansfield Rd.). Allergy alert: Kathy has two cats. $15 suggested donation, proceeds entirely to the performer.
FSGW Launches Foodways Initiative: Why Folk and Food are Partners

Food, in addition to music and dance, is one of the most important windows into the folkways of a cultural group. “Tell me what you eat, and I’ll tell you who you are,” wrote renowned gastronome Jean Anthelme Brillat-Savarin in 1825. Food shapes us and our culture.

Foodways refers to culinary folklore: those customs and conventions of a people, a region, or a historical period, that are related to food and provide identity and purpose within a culture. These happen, for example, as turkeys appear on Thanksgiving tables in America, as shape-note singers share potluck suppers, as the haggis is passed and the pint is raised.

Dancers add flourishes to their movements, musicians embellish the tunes they play and good cooks take the same creative liberties with recipes, using no less care or imagination. Musicians with full-time gigs build their repertoires, as do cooks who use their skills consistently. And they frequently hand down their know-how through word of mouth.

Our food heritage, as well as our musical and story-telling heritage, is a vital part of us, and so FSGW will endeavor to preserve and promote the traditional culinary arts by offering our first foodways class in honor of an icon of the fall season, the pumpkin. We hope you can come along on this adventure with us!

THE INAUGURAL FSGW FOODWAYS CLASS

Smashing Pumpkins,
Sweet and Savory Ways with Pumpkins and Squash
Sunday, October 20 • 1 to 3 PM

We’ll provide a riot of pumpkins and winter squashes, and over the course of the class you will learn how to turn them into such wonderful treats as Afghan borani kadoo, South African fritters, Italian risotto, French stuffed pumpkin and American pumpkin butter. Modern takes on the big orange squash, such as baked oatmeal and a pumpkin smoothie, for breakfast options, will also be presented. There will be soups to sip as we work, and of course, we won’t forget to teach you what to do with the seeds!

Pumpkins, and other squashes are native to North America, and as such, were a staple food of the indigenous people of the continent. It didn’t take settlers long to appreciate the delicious fruit, inventing something like a pumpkin pie in the 1600s. From there, pumpkins have gone global, spreading to Europe, Asia and Africa, where they were incorporated into many wonderful dishes, the recipes for which have found their way back home to America with the immigrant population—much to our culinary delight!

To make the pumpkin even more wonderful, it is low-calorie, and a rich source of many antioxidants, vitamins A and C, manganese, potassium and fiber. It is naturally sweet, helping to satisfy a sweet tooth while supplying lots of healthful nutrients.

So, join Laura Schultz MS, CHHC, at the new Hill Center kitchen to cook up a whole world’s worth of international recipes made from this colorful orange orb and its cousins.

Laura Schultz has an MS in Nutrition from the University of Bridgeport and is a certified holistic health coach through the Institute of Integrative Nutrition. www.abundantwellnesscoaching.com.

The Hill Center Kitchen is located at the Old Naval Hospital, 921 Pennsylvania Avenue, SE. To register, or for info: go to fsgw.org or call 703.618.1799. Members $45, Non-members $55. This will be a hands-on class with space limited to 15. Bring your appetite! Questions? E-mail food@fsgw.org. Not a member? Check out the benefits of membership at fsgw.org. Join today and save!
FSGW DANCE EVENTS

FSGW Sunday Night Dances
at Glen Echo Park, MD

Contras & Squares • 7:30–10:30 pm
Introductory lesson every Sunday, 7–7:30 pm

Join us for an evening of dancing at Glen Echo Park. Every Sunday FSGW (in cooperation with the National Park Service, Montgomery County, and the Glen Echo Park Partnership for Arts and Culture) presents contras and squares danced to live music by fabulous bands with entertaining callers. Experienced and new dancers welcome; no partner needed. Welcome/Orientation session every Sunday at 7. Come early for an introduction to the basic moves. Dances often become more challenging as the evening progresses. During the spring and summer, most Sunday dances are in the Bumper Car Pavilion, then move into the 1920s restored Spanish Ballroom in the fall and winter. Bring water or a sports drink, and dress in layers. Smooth-soled shoes are kindest on your knees and ankles when turning.

Info: Steve Burnett, dance@fsgw.org

Admission: $10 for FSGW, BFMS, CDSS, and ATDS Members, $5 ages 7–22 (with student ID if over 17) $13 for the general public.

October

6  Larry Unger (guitar, banjo) and Elke Baker (fiddle) bring high-energy music with a dash of Scottish influence as Brian Hamshar calls an evening of fun contras.

13  Our very own Ann Fallon calls to the rhythms of Divine Comedy; Steve Hickman (guitar), Marty Taylor (wind instruments), and John Devine (guitar).

20  The Crabapples are a Monterey-based band known for their lively, traditional tunes. They are Marta Lynch (fiddle), Bob Silberstein (mandolin, piano, doumbek), Norm Cotton (piano, fiddle), and Teresa Fife (bass). Jean Gorrindo calls an evening of great dances.

27  Will Mentor calls some frightfully good dances and you will be haunted by the electronic rhythms of Perpetual e-Motion; Ed Howe (electronic violin), and John Coté (guitar, synthesizer and didgeridoo). Come dressed in your Halloween best!
FSGW English Country Dances
at Glen Echo Town Hall, MD • Wednesdays • 8–10 pm

Dance on a wood floor in the climate-controlled community room of the Glen Echo Town Hall, 6106 Harvard St., Glen Echo, MD 20812. Bring clean, non-scuffing shoes for dancing. Cheerful, patient, talented callers are accompanied by top-notch musicians—every Wednesday a different and delightful mix of instruments, including piano, fiddle, flute, harp, oboe, concertina, bassoon, cello, viola, and recorder. Thursday Contra Dances Silver Spring

Co-sponsored with Carpe Diem

Thursday, October 10 • 7–10 pm

Music by Andrew Marcus, David Knight and Glyn Collinson. Dances called by Anna Rain. Beginner lesson from 7–7:30, $10. $8 FSGW members, $5 students and those without income. Just this month relocated to Ballroom Blum, 8300 Osage Terrace, Adelphi, MD. Co-presented with Carpe Diem Arts. Info: busygraham@gmail.com, 301.466.0183. www.CarpeDiemArts.org.
FSGW presents Ken Waldman, Alaska’s Fiddling Poet, for an afternoon writing workshop followed by an evening of old-time Appalachian-style string-band music, original poetry and storytelling. He’ll be joined by Silver Spring guitarist/fiddler Lou Janesko.

Ken Waldman draws on his 25 years in Alaska to produce poems, stories and fiddle tunes that he combines into a unique performance of music and spoken word. A former college professor, he has published six full-length poetry collections, a memoir, a children’s book, and has released nine CDs. He has been touring full time since 1995, performing at some of the nation’s leading universities, festivals, arts centers and clubs—including the Kennedy Center’s Millennium Stage.

Fiddler Magazine calls Waldman a “solid old-time fiddler . . . Waldman’s originals are worth noting.” Sing Out! magazine says, “By age-old tradition, itinerant and touring performers have lives in which their music is interwoven with their lives. No one conveys this better and more powerfully [than Waldman].”

The writing workshop will precede the evening concert and is open to all comers: “Four Writing Prompts: The Beginning of Four New Stories or Poems.” “The more you write, the luckier you get,” says Waldman, “and each time you start a story or poem, there’s an opportunity to get luckier than ever.” The trick is getting started. During this workshop you’ll begin four new pieces and learn strategies to begin many more. The session is open to all levels and experience.

Seekers Church, 276 Carroll St., NW, Washington, DC 20012. The afternoon workshop runs from 4-6 p.m. The evening concert starts at 8 p.m. The concert is free to FSGW members, $15 for non-members. The afternoon workshop is $10 for FSGW members; $15 for non-members. Pre-registration is recommended but not required. Call 443.786.0463.

In Memoriam: Sam Stulberg

Sadly, Sam Stulberg died Saturday afternoon, September 7, 2013, at the age of 89. He slipped away in his sleep—his wife, Sarah, was with him. The family is making final arrangements, to include a memorial service in Bethesda in mid-October. His final resting place will be at the Arlington National Cemetery. (Sam was very proud to have seen combat as an infantryman in Italy during WWII).

Sam, who was matched up with Sarah by Ur-FolkDance Leader Dave Rosenberg at a folkdance camp 50-odd years ago, was central in many folk-dance camps and events, both locally, and all across the country; and ran the Arlington, Va. folk-dance Tuesday evenings for 40+ years. And who could forget the wonderful Memorial Day, and New Year’s Eve celebrations, and countless international trips, cruises, and parties he led with Sarah.

Please give your support to Sarah and her family at and beyond this somber hour. She can be reached at 703.527.8998 or SSDancetrav@earthlink.net. If you wish to send a card, her address is: Sarah Stulberg, Sunrise at Bluemont Park, Shenandoah Building, Rm. 207, 5910 Wilson Blvd., Arlington, VA 22205.
