The 35th Washington Folk Festival
May 30th & 31st
12 noon to 7 pm

It’s back! FSGW’s Washington Folk Festival returns on May 30-31, promising once again a cornucopia of music, dancing circles, clever storytelling, beautiful crafts, and spontaneous jamming at the picnic tables. The free festival runs across two days, rain or shine, at the historic Glen Echo Park.

Presented by the Folklore Society of Greater Washington, the Washington Folk Festival will host over 65 local musical acts showcasing diverse American styles as well as intriguing international flavors. Do you love bluegrass, old-time country, blues, swing, contemporary folk, or the sounds of Appalachia? Are you inspired by Celtic melodies or curious about Persian, Balkan, Hawaiian, Jewish, Japanese, North Indian, West African, or Scandinavian soul in motion at the festival in 2014.

music? How about music from Greece or Mexico? You can hear all of this and more at the upcoming festival.

All performers are local to the Washington area and volunteer their talents to make the festival a successful community event. Among them are many champion instrumentalists and multiple Wammie winners, and even a few Grammy nominees. There is outstanding talent in our town. Some of the names you might recognize are Speedy Tolliver, Lisa Null, Seth Kibel, Christylez Bacon, Warner Williams, and Kipyn Martin or groups such as the Sweater Set, Washington Revels Jubilee Singers, Hesperus, and OCEAN. Check out the list of currently confirmed performers on Page 23.

Do the words “Johnny Cash” perk up your ears? The festival will feature a showcase devoted to this revered American artist as well as other showcases highlighting the fiddle, ukulele, banjo, harmonica, and local singer-songwriters. This year there will also be an opportunity to Meet the Artists – an intimate setting where you can learn from and interact with some of the performers.

But that’s not all. As always, dancing is a big component of the festival. Put on your comfy shoes, head for the Spanish Ballroom, and get into waltz, tango, contra, Balkan, blues and Cajun dancing, among other styles. Several dances include lessons for beginners and those who want to learn some new steps.

The festival also hosts a stage entirely devoted to storytellers who will regale and delight with captivating (true, and maybe not-so-true) tales. Meanwhile over in the Bumper Car Pavilion, expert crafters will showcase beautiful handmade items ranging from jewelry to dulcimers.

And bring the family. Besides the playground and carousel, kids (and adults!) can pick up percussion instruments, join the Family Dance, picnic on the grounds and dig into ice cream and other treats. You’ll be sure to run into the Morris dancers, and the organ grinder, and maybe a juggler or other roaming artists.

Along with putting the festival on your calendar and heading over on the last weekend in May, you can get involved in other ways too. In order to produce the festival, FSGW relies on an army of volunteers. A few hours of your time will ensure that the show will go on smoothly! To volunteer, go on-line to the festival’s website, www.washingtonfolkfestival.org, and fill out the online form, ideally by the first week in May.

Glen Echo Park is located at 7300 MacArthur Blvd, Glen Echo MD. The festival is a perennial favorite but parking is limited, so please take advantage of the free satellite parking at the GEICO parking lot located at 5260 Western Avenue, Chevy Chase, MD, just 2 blocks from the Friendship Heights Metro stop. Visit the festival website for details and the full and final 2015 program schedule, which will be posted mid-May.
 RESCHEDULED CONCERT **

Alex Caton and Pat Egan

Saturday May 2 • 8 pm

We are so pleased the performers found a spot in their calendar to substitute for the show that was cancelled in February due to snow!

We’re in for a treat when multi-instrumentalist, singer and songwriter Alex Caton is joined by musical partner, singer and guitarist Pat Egan. You might have seen Alex when Ginny Hawker and Tracy Schwarz performed for us last year – she was their opening act. Ginny and Tracy are known for mentoring young performers, so we knew they’d bring a gem.

Born in England, Alex Caton was a longtime student of piano and violin when her family settled in the US. Discovering Appalachian old-time and Irish fiddle music about twenty years ago changed her life. She moved to Virginia to absorb the music, studying fiddle, banjo, guitar and voice with some of the masters. She hones her talents at countless jam sessions, has been a member of several bands and appears in shows ranging from house concerts to major festivals. But teaching is her passion – in schools, at festivals and fiddle camps (some of which she founded), and in the home studio she built just for that purpose. She understands the need for learning traditions from the elders, practicing them, and passing them on to younger generations. She is also adding to those traditions by writing songs and tunes.

You might have seen Irish-born Pat Egan performing in bands, playing for folk dances or leading traditional sessions. He came to the Midwest from Tipperary at the invitation of noted accordionist Paddy O’Brien to form the band Chulrua. While in the Midwest, he found himself attracted to America’s old-time music. He and Alex met in the late ’90s, when both were living in Asheville, NC. They’ve been friends ever since, and musical partners much of that time as well. These days you’re likely to see this very busy performer working with hammered dulcimer player Maggie Sansone, with flutist Laura Byrne, or as part of various bands: Old Pitch, Jug of Punch, the Hedge Band or The Sound of Sleat (who recently released a CD). Pat is known for his warm, resonant singing voice and his solid rhythm guitar. He, too, is a teacher, emphasizing rhythm and guitar accompaniment.

What to expect? Appalachian (rooted, of course, in the Scots-Irish tradition), Irish songs and tunes in those traditions. To borrow from a Myron Bretholz review: “This duo weaves a beautiful and intricate tapestry of sounds, drawing from the rich traditions of both Irish and old-time music. Their spellbinding instrumental selections and poignant songs reflect not only a depth of knowledge, but also a true passion for the material.” It promises to be a fun evening for sure.

To sample the breadth of their work, check their websites: alexcaton.com and pateganmusic.blogspot.com

FSGW Program—FREE to Members

Jon Brooks
Canadian Singer/songwriter

Lou Dominguez opening Sunday, May 17 • 3 pm

Just in case you thought political and topical songs were passé, we’ve got a treat for you as our final program of the season.

Jon Brooks is an award-winning songwriter and singer who has gained acclaim in his native Canada with incisive, thoughtful commentary on contemporary life. He unites folk song tradition with today’s stories, drawing from real life and headlines. Realism, yes, with inspiration, empathy and hope.

After a visit to war-torn Eastern Europe, it took the songwriter several years to feel relevant again. Rebounding from that, he wrote about subjects and locations in urban Toronto and told Canadian war stories from World War I to today. He continues to write about various aspects of the human condition, including Alberta’s tar sands, guns, suicide bombers and honor killings. His latest release has been blithely described as “an album of rural Canadian murder ballads” – death count 75, with literary references and occasional reminiscences of Woody Guthrie, Leonard Cohen or Steve Earle. But it’s highly listenable, rhythmic and includes an update of the Child ballad "The Two Sisters."

Nominated three times for Songwriter of the Year at the Canadian Folk Music Awards, Jon was a Canadian Regional Winner of the Mountain Stage New Song Contest and a New Folk Winner at the Kerrville Folk Festival in Texas.

Toting his guitar and banjitar, he has toured Canada, visited the US, the UK and Australia. You can’t argue that you’ve seen too much of him. Once a theatre usher, a bike courier and a beer brewer, Jon is a troubadour who argues for compassion, “I owe today’s listener some compelling argument as to why we should believe our present world can be improved, or healed.”

Opening for Jon Brooks will be local singer and songwriter Lou Dominguez. He too sings commentary on the world around us – from guns to Facebook, from returning soldiers to the loss of record stores to the court’s “Citizens United” decision.

Preview them online: jonbrooks.ca and loudominguez.com

Then come see two compelling performers whose work will make you think and even make you smile. Join us at 3:00 pm on Sunday afternoon, May 17 at Seekers Church, 276 Carroll St., NW, in the Takoma neighborhood. General admission is $15, free to members.

The Takoma Metro stop is across the street, and the WMATA website tells us that “Weekends and federal holidays: Parking at Metro-operated lots is free.”
51st Annual FSGW Getaway Planning Underway

Planning for the 2015 FSGW Getaway, to be held October 2-4, 2015 at West River Conference Center on the Chesapeake Bay, is well underway! The Getaway is FSGW’s annual weekend-on-the-water -- we’ve been doing this for over 50 years now, and it’s always a great time. We have a fine lineup of special guests this year -- The Short Sisters (Kim Wallach, Fay Baird, & Kate Seeger), Cindy Kallet and Grey Larsen, Jill Rogoff, Tim Radford, and Sheila Kay Adams and the Scofflaws (Dan Lewis & Branson Raines). The Getaway is a wonderful gathering of folk music friends from near and far, and we can promise a memorable weekend! The last few Getaways have included several children — something that was lacking for a long time. We'd love to see many more, so please bring your kids! Or your grandkids! And do tell us in advance how many you’ll be bringing, and their ages, so we can plan appropriate activities for them!

The Program Committee would like your help. We always try to tailor the Getaway program to the interests of those attending, so please let us know if you plan to attend this year, and what workshops you would like to see or take part in. Is there something you enjoyed in the past you would like to see repeated (or not)? Do you have a new idea we should try? Please contact Nancy King (nlking2@verizon.net), Carly Gewirz (gewirz@cox.net or 703-631-9655), Kathie Mack (kpmack2@gmail.com), or Lisa Null (enul@starpower.net) with your suggestions. We’re looking forward to seeing you all at the Getaway! Stay tuned; registration opens in July.

FSGW Outreach to Hope and a Home

Once each month since July 2014, FSGW has presented a half-hour storytelling program in an out-of-the-way performance space for a very small but important audience: children served by the transitional housing charity Hope and a Home. Meeting on the last Monday of the month in the basement of the 15th St. Presbyterian Church, Hope and a Home works with parents on financial management and homeowner skills they need to stabilize independent living situations for themselves and their family. In the room next door, their children eat dinner, make art projects, play with Play-Doh, and get a storytelling or music program staged just for them, and for them alone. Sitting only a few feet from the performer, this is an intimate performance exclusively for these children, among the most have-not in the city of Washington. Poverty and homelessness can impose many hurdles on children that can make it hard to gain a better life, obvious hurdles like unstable access to food, shelter, and education, and less-obvious hurdles like a sense of exclusion from a society that has forgotten about them. It is these latter hurdles, and long-term consequences of disaffection and alienation, that FSGW tackles through this outreach program. The children at Hope and a Home are happy, excitable, outgoing, curious, engaged, just like children are supposed to be. Our goal is to help them stay that way, to help them jump the hurdles that pop up before them. If you would like to support this outreach effort -- or perform in it! -- contact Board member Tim Livengood at timtales@verizon.net, or any member of the Board.

HOW TO SUBMIT A LISTING TO THE FSGW NEWSLETTER:

1. Please look at this Newsletter and determine under what category your listing should appear. When submitting copy by email, put that category in the subject line, followed by the month. So if you want to list a contra dance, your subject line is: Dance Contra [Month]. No punctuation, please. If it’s a workshop: Workshop [Month]. If it’s a single concert: Concert Individual [Month]. And so forth. Putting the category in the Subject Line makes it easier for the editor to retrieve groups of events.

2. Please submit all listings in FSGW format. All information should be submitted in the following sequence:
   - Event Title • City, State Abbreviation
   - Day of the week, Date • start time - end time
   - One or two sentences only. Location (+ zip code for GPS). Ticket prices.
   - Info: Contact Name at Phone number or email/website.

   NB: The city and state appear in the header; do not repeat them in the body, but in this age of Droids and GPS units, you need to include the 5-digit zip code – it goes right after the street address.
