

March 5, 1970

Mr. & Mrs. Stephen J. Winters
1718 Abingdon Drive #202,
Alexandria, Virginia 22314

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Winters:

I am sending you today under separate cover:

1 superkemon ribbon for a royal typewriter

About 100 red-print newsletterheads like this one

About the same number of reduced letterheads, to be used in case you'd like to crowd more information onto one page

Some sample back issues of the newsletter as edited by me and my predecessor, George Simpson (You don't need to mimic these slavishly; each editor has plenty of latitude for his own personal selections and expressions; my idea of the newsletter is a concise table of events of interest to folklorists: what, when and where. But there are a lot of other possibilities.)

A pack of korectype for correcting errors

Some scraps and leads for the April newsletter, possibly duplicated by the notes you took at the board meeting last night.

If you're coming to the regular program meeting, Feb. 13 (Friday), at the Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology, I'll see you there.

More later.

Cordially

Frank Goodwyn