Dick felt the Sampler Concert was an artistic success. However, he felt not enough members were supporting the special events. The Sampler Concert earned a net profit of $19.12. Total gate receipts totaled $107.50 and expenses amounted to $88.36.

Plans are in the making for a Square Dance event in November. The Open Sings are going well.

GETAWAY: Andy Wallace

A financial breakdown is not yet available. Approximately $1,400 was used for expenses and over $2,500 was taken in. All the cooking equipment borrowed from the Air Force has been donated to the Society. Letters of commendation and thanks will be sent to Jeremy Sachs and to the cooks.

Suggestions for next year's Getaway included: Having a person from each camp area in charge of final clean up of the camp area and also to help in finding the camps at the beginning of the weekend. Having someone in charge of the end-of-night clean up of the food area and also to help in the final clean up. Having first-aid equipment strategically spaced throughout the Getaway area. Having more and better signs at the entrance to the park and also throughout the park. Using a platform for the performers and having bigger circles at the workshops.

PUBLICITY REPORT: Rich Galloway

Rich felt using the local university newspapers for advertisements was not worth the expense and trouble. Expenses for the previous month totaled about $5.

MEMBER-AT-LARGE REPORT: Debbie Hutton

The workshops program will begin on Friday, October 27, with a Dulcimer workshop. Reid Martin will conduct a banjo workshop.

OLD BUSINESS:

- 1) Andy stressed the importance of having a close-working Executive Board, and also of familiarizing the total membership with the members of the Board.
- 2) The audit of the Society's books is still pending.
- 3) There was a discussion of using a new printer.

NEW BUSINESS:

- 1) It was suggested that the FSGW materials should be kept separate from non-FSGW materials on the front table at FSGW programs and monthly meetings.
- 2) A new mailing list letter is needed. Kathy will draft a new one and submit it at the next Board meeting.
- 3) New stationery is needed. Ginny will check into this matter.

(Whereupon, at 9:45 p.m., the FSGW Executive Board was adjourned, to reconvene on November 7, 1972 at 8:00 p.m.)
