FSGW MINI-FESTIVAL SAT., JAN. 28

Earl Robinson, John Jackson, and the Boarding Party headline the evening concert at FSGW's 1984 Mini-festival, Saturday, January 28, at Trinity College, 125 Michigan Ave., NE (across the street from Catholic University and the Shrine of the Immaculate Conception). In addition to the evening concert, the annual mini-festival features an evening dance, called by Tom Hines (with music by the Hobotoe String Band), daytime music and dance workshops, mini-concerts and song sessions, snack food, and the "folk marketplace," where records, tapes, instruments, accessories, and crafts will be for sale.

The activities begin at noon, with a short concert by the several workshop leaders, followed from 1 to 6 pm by workshops and mini-concerts (in five areas simultaneously). After a break for supper, the dance and concert begin at 8:30 pm. Food sales and the folk marketplace will operate from noon to 6 pm, but not in the evening.

The evening concert will have a historical focus. Earl Robinson, composer of "Joe Hill" and "Ballad for Americans," was a compatriot of Woody Guthrie, Josh White, Leadbelly, and the Almanac Singers in the early days of the urban folk revival. He is sure to have many fascinating reminiscences to share with the audience in his portion of the concert.

John Jackson is a living example of the vitality of blues and country music and the strength of tradition. He learned many of his songs from the singing of Jimmie Rodgers, the "singing brake-

MEDICINE SHOW FILM JANUARY 21 WASHINGTON PREMIERE

"Greasy" Medlin (l) and Snuffy Jenkins (r), in a scene from Free Show Tonight.

FSGW) along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope and your telephone number to: FSGW, P.O. Box 7253, Arlington, Virginia 22207. Orders must be received by January 16th. NO tickets will be sold at the door, so order yours NOW!

You are invited to join FSGW on Saturday, January 21st, for an exclusive Washington premiere of the film Free Show Tonight.

The film features country music singer Roy Acuff, pitchman Fred Foster Bloodgood, comic "Greasy" Medlin, musicians Hammie Nixon, "Starvin' Sam" Pridgen, "Hashhouse Harvey" Ellington, and blues belter "Diamond Tooth Walkin' Mary" McClain. The performers, all veterans of medicine shows, were reunited in a small North Carolina town for one last performance of their homespun entertainment complete with pitches for "snake oil." It was this show, in Bailey, N.C., that filmmakers Paul Wagner and Steve Zeitlin document in Free Show Tonight.

The film will be shown at 7:30 pm, Saturday January 21st, at the Carmichael Auditorium, in the Smithsonian's Museum of American History. A limited number of tickets are available by mail order only! The admission price of $5. includes a post-film reception with wine, refreshments, and music by the Sunshine Skiffle Band. The event is co-sponsored by the film makers, the Smithsonian Institution, and FSGW.

INSIDE: Paton Family Concert, & Jim Costa, Jan. Program

PATON FAMILY IN CONCERT JAN. 20

Sandy and Caroline Paton, accomplished folksingers and founders of Folk Legacy Records, will perform in an FSGW Special Event, January 20th at the WES auditorium, 7750 16th St., N.W. Accompanied

Accompanied by their sons David and Robin (on banjo, concertina, fiddle, mandolin, hammered dulcimer, in addition to Sandy's guitar and Caroline's Appalachian dulcimer), the Patons will present a wide variety of songs and ballads in their 8:30 pm concert.

Sandy and Caroline have been collecting songs (and singers) for more than 20 years and their concerts include many of the rare songs they've learned in those years. A Paton family concert involves not only fine singing from the stage, not only knowledge of folk-song and folklore, not only the audience (for the Patons encourage audience participation), but warmth and sharing and a love of song that can be felt by all present.

The Patons do not get Washington very often, so this is a rare concert. Admission to this very special event is $4. for FSGW members and $5. for nonmembers.

January Program Spotlights Jim Costa With Tales

The regular monthly FSGW program, Friday, January 13, presents Jim Costa, a multi-instrumentalist and story-teller from Hinton, W. VA. Jim approaches his music and tales with intensity and dedication to tradition. In addition to telling tales, he plays fiddle, dulcimer, banjo, guitar auto-harp and harmonica in the old styles.

The 8:30 pm program, held at the WES Auditorium, 7750 16th St. NW (at Kalmia Rd.), is free to FSGW members, and $4 to non-members.

Hickersons At Washington Waldorf School

Joe and Kathy Hickerson are featured in a FSGW-cosponsored family concert at the Washington Waldorf School on Saturday, January 14, at 2 pm. Joe and Kathy are each well-known in Washington folk music circles--Joe through 20 years of performing, collecting, and archiving of folk songs, and Kathy through a long involvement in folk music organizations from Michigan to Washington, D.C. --and together they blend their voices and instruments in a program that will delight grownups and children alike. Joe plays guitar, and Kathy plays guitar, Appalachian dulcimer, and cello. Their program emphasizes participation by the audience, featuring choruses on which the whole family can sing along.

The Washington Waldorf School is at 4800 Sangamore Road, Bethesda, Maryland, between MacArthur Blvd. and Massachusetts Ave., near the Defense Mapping Agency. Admission is $2. for children to age 12, and $4. for anyone older.

man," who in turn had learned them from black singers of the 1920' & 30's. So John represents the completion of the circle of tradition. A fine guitarist in his own right, John will be joined by his son, James, representing a new generation in the tradition.

The Boarding Party --Jon Eberhart, Bob Hitchcock, K. C. King and Tom McHenry -- will present songs of local seaports and waterways, sung with harmonious gusto. The Boarding Party has devoted itself to songs of the sea, with special attention to songs of and from waterways in the local area. Their devotion, scholarship and musicianship (soon to be heard on a Folk-Legacy record) seldom fail to captivate their audiences.

Admission is $4 (day or night session) for FSGW members, $5 for non-members. A combined (day and night) price of $6 (FSGW) or $7 (non-members) is available. Trinity College is .6 mi. west of the Brookland Metro station (Red line). A satellite parking lot is available, 1 block west of the College. There is some, limited, on-street parking on Michigan Ave.

Volunteers are needed to make the Mini-Festival a success. We need people for admissions, food, membership, the Washington Folk Festival exhibit, and moving furniture and sound equipment, and set-up and clean-up. If you'd like to be "closer to the action" and also be a big help to FSGW, call volunteer coordinator George Stephens at 301-763-8142 days, or 301-372-6828 in the evenings. He's easier to reach during the day.

BOARD MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

The FSGW Board met on Wednesday, December 7, at the home of President Kathy Hickerson in Takoma Park. Among other actions, the Board:

- Approved the articles of incorporation drawn up by FSGW counsel, and directed Mary Cliff to proceed with the incorporation process using this document;
- Approved a motion to cosponsor a Washington premiere showing of the film Free Show Tonight with the Smithsonian and the film's producers;
- Decided not to establish a standing Exhibits Committee;
- Received a report from the Dance chair that the FSGW Dance Weekend will be held April 27, 28, and 29, at Camp Letts in Edgewater, Maryland.

JANUARY BOARD MEETING

The next meeting of the FSGW Board will be held Wednesday, January 4, at the home of Bob Clayton and Jennifer Woods in Arlington, Va. The meeting begins at 8 pm. Any FSGW member may attend. For more information, directions, call Bob or Jennifer at 528-8537.

8th ANNUAL WASHINGTON FOLK FESTIVAL!!

The Eighth Annual Washington Folk Festival will be held at Glen Echo Park on the 2nd and 3rd of June, 1984. Our next planning meeting will be on Tuesday, January 17 at 8 pm at the Park. Everyone interested in the Festival is invited to attend. The continued success of the Festival depends on the volunteer help of FSGW members and on the donation of goods, services, and money by the Washington community. We are still looking for people to serve on the Festival committee. We need people to help with publicity for the Festival, someone to plan and coordinate the Children's Area program, and people who can help us locate donors to the Festival.

Experience has shown that most donations to the Festival are obtained through personal contacts with owners or managers of local businesses. These contacts include employers, friends and businesses to which you are a frequent customer. If you have any such contacts please let us know. One of our special needs this year is a large tent or canvas. Is there anyone out there who knows (or is) a benevolent tentmaker?

If you would like to work on the Festival, or you can suggest people who might be able to help us, you can ask about it at any FSGW event or call the Hotline at 281-2228, or Tammy Zeheb at 667-3176.

FSGW PROPERTY INVENTORY CALL

Linda Lieberman, acting on behalf of the FSGW Board, sends out this call to all FSGW members:

I am requesting that all FSGW property, such as pots, pans, cooking utensils, other cookware, paper goods, etc. be returned to me A.S.A.P. We have had problems locating needed items for some events (the Getaway, Christmas party, Washington Folk Festival, etc.). If you have or know of any items, call me to make arrangements to get the items to me.

A storage locker has been rented, and all items must be inventoried and stored for future use by the Society. All items will be kept in storage when not in use. Thank you for your cooperation.
